ADOLESCENTS

Emma and Anaïs are inseparable, yet they have nothing in common. 'Adolescents' follows their journey from the age of 13 until they come of age, five years of a life full of transformations and first times. When they turn 18, we wonder what kind of women they have become and where their friendship stands. Through this chronicle of youth, the film also paints a portrait of France over the last five years. 7.30pm Jacques Deray award for best crime film
